Call for Posters on Misinformation & Media Literacy

The "Combating Misinformation Through Media Literacy" conference announces a call for posters on ongoing or recent research, or development efforts, to address misinformation. Individual researchers, research projects, or research units are invited to submit a poster to be publicly displayed during the conference, which will be held on the 7th and 8th June 2019, at the Cyprus University of Technology. We welcome posters which focus on research on the topic of misinformation, discuss work in progress, research challenges or new research directions on this issue or report on developing tools to address misinformation. The submission of posters is open to all multidisciplinary fields (i.e, industrial sector, research sector, etc.). Poster presenters can also register to attend the conference at http://medialiteracy.cut.ac.cy. Registration for the conference is free.

The event aims to raise awareness on the issue of media literacy and misinformation, and provide tools which enable critical thinking about the usage of online media. Panel discussions, interactive activities and experiential workshops will be also featured throughout the two-day event, which will be attended by international experts, primary and secondary school teachers, journalists, policymakers, and the general public.

The event is co-organized by the Cyprus University of Technology, the Horizon 2020 European-funded project "Co-Inform", the Cyprus Pedagogical Institute of the Ministry of Education and Culture, and the U.S. Embassy in Cyprus.
